Not illustrated. 1890 Excerpt: .Parker Memorial, which was held in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening. The meeting was interesting and enthusiastic, and in every way delightful and successful. Mr. Blake read a poem, and Mr. Potter gave a historical sketch of The Man and the Reformer. Mr. Chadwick's subject was Parker the Thinker, but he seemed to be filling in and making more vivid and beautiful the picture of the man and the reformer drawn by Mr. Potter. Then came a long and wonderfully interesting paper upon Parker the Pastor, by Mrs. Cheney, who made us feel very near indeed to Parker as a man, brother and friend. It was nearly eleven o'clock when these long papers were finally ended, and yet at the conclusion Mr. Jones held us until after eleven in the attempt to raise a ten thousand dollar Parker Memorial Fund, to be held and used by the Western Conference. Nearly five thousand dollars was pledged during the evening, which was increased during the next day to something like five thousand eight hundred dollars. One could not help wondering at the logic that raises a Parker Memorial Fund to help on a Conference that repudiates Parker's central religious position. The Conference as a whole was one of the most successful in point of numbers and enthusiasm ever held in Chicago, the success being very largely due to the earnestness and devotion of the people of All Souls Church, and to the interest in...
