There is nothing fairer in all King Herod's land except the valley of Shechem which we left this morning, noble Tullius. How the slanting sunshine empurples the mist, and makes the valley below us like a bowl filled with ruddy wine! I would it were wine, replied Tullius, for, with this December chill in our blood, we two might drink the whole of it. But, Casca, you should see it in the summer-time. Then the bowl itself glows with more colours than Phares wrought into the vase that Herod sent to Cleopatra when he would bribe her to stop asking Marc Antony for all Palestine. The rim of the hills is enamelled with the light green of fig trees, the dusky green of olives and the purple grapes of a hundred vineyards.
